The bark Comet arrived over on the 11th. We notice quite a decline in prices of sugar. There was a sale at suction on February 11th, by J. C. Merrill & Co., at which upwards of 4,000 kegs were sold at following prices :-Jas. Makee, $12 10@ 89 85; Lihue, $10 52@ $10 55; Pioneer Mills, $12 05@$11 42; Kaalaes, $11 05@$0 20 ; East Mani, $10 07(a) $9 75; Waikapu, $10 15; Kolon, $10 17@ 89 75 ; Wailuku, 89 95(a)89 97 ; Metcalf, $11 82@$10 58; Lale, $9 75@$10 12, The above sale enabled the trade to stock up freely. and compelled the refineries to lower their rate for Yellow C from 141 to 18c. This decline was anticipated by many here, from the fact that our sugars were being pushed forward in large quantities, together with liberal receipts from other countries, at a time when trade was dull, the demand for the country had not begun, and holders very anxious to realize, all tended to break down the price at least a month sooner than we expected.

The schooner Forest King is loading for Portland, and the Cambridge will return in the Hawaiian Packet Line to San Francisco.

The merchants are complaining bitterly of hard times, and, we should say, by street appearances, they have just cause; but the spring fleet will be looking in upon us shortly, which we think will do something to revive trade. It is universally the case that the three first months of the year is our dullest season with retailers, owing, in part, perhaps, to the fact that the taxes are paid about the end of teurs of Engine Company No. 2. the year, and leave those who are not diligently employed rather short of ready cash.

His "church of the Blessed Virgin" was an organization with-out a building, service being held on Sunday in a public hall. Mr Rogers recently fell un-der the censure of his bishop for the intro-duction of exerconoles and observances which the latter believed foreign to the teaching of the Episcopal Church.

On the French steamer which left the Bosphorus for Salonica, a short time since, was a party of 100 Albanians, and these gentry informed the captain that he must not call at Mount Athos, but proceed direct to Salonica. On his refusal, they drew pistols and knives, and threatend a general massacre if their wishes were not complied with. The captain in his turn got out the bose, and threatened to pump hot water on their if they did not lay down their arms. Wash and he clear. — Abernethy once said to a rich but dirly patient, who consulted him about an eraption: "Let your servant bring you three or four pails of water, and put it into a washtub; take off your clothes, get into it, and rub yourself well with soap and a rough towel, and you'll recover." This advice seems very much like telling me to wash myself," said the patient. "Well," said Abernethy, "it may be open to such a construction."

During some recent excavations at St. Gerrals, France, an urn was accidently broken, exposing to view several thousand silver colus. Although bearing no date, the Greek inscriptions, internixed with Latin, suggest that they were struck long before the commencement of the Christian era, when Marsellies was the centre of commerce, art, and civilization. The coins are in a wonderful state of preservation.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE ON EMMA STREET. -Last Saturday, the 27th ult., Adems & Wilder sold at auction a very desirable piece of property situated on Emma street, be longing to the estate of Kaikalka, deceased, and containing 26-100ths of an acre. The purchaser was Mr. Jas. Love, and the price paid was $1,350-considered to be cheap, which does not indicate a want of confidence in real estate.

Saturday evening last, will, according to advertisement, take place on Saturday evening next, at the Theatre, with a splendid and well-reheared programme. This entertainment is given at the request of a number of our residents, who greatly enjoyed the first performance of the Amateurs, and which was so crowded, that many were unable to gain admission. Considering the scarcity of amusements in our community, and the talent evinced, we hope this entertainment will not be the last one, especially by the Ama-

Mr. Forbes on board, and was met and set aright by the Bark Maunaloa, This time the bark did not meet her, and Mr. Forbes was not on board. It is impossible to say how our friend got the two eccentric voyages of this vessel so much mixed up. He should have reflected that Mr. Forbes would, probably, have much preferred to have starved at sea, rather than have been indebted for his safety to the Maunaloa, during February last. Beside the Maunaloa salled subsequently to the 10th of February, on her present voyage.

KOOLAU is about the liveliest place on this island, at the present moment. The mills are all grinding and are taking off prolific crops. The Kancohe plantation has made alterations in the mill by the addition of a boiler and steam strike pan, thereby rendering this mill the second mill in Koolan for its size and the Prince of Sorghum pans. The Kaalaca mill, Mr. Bickerton being the enterprising manager, has also made its alterations by substituting a sorghum pan at the end of the train, in place of the teche kettle as formerly. PERUVIAN, NOT PRUSSIAN! - A short time ago, a communication from the Department of Foreign Affairs of the Central Gov ernment of the North-German Confederation, dated Berlin, Dec. 5, 1868, addressed to the German Consul at this port, was received by Mr. T. C. Heuck. Its contents must be gratifying to the German part of our population, insemuch as they show that a vigilant eye is kept at home on their general interests, and on the reputation of their flag. The said communication — referring to a statement published by a local paper of this city, (issue of the 17th of October last,) about a prussian vessel, called the Cayalti, on board of which several irregularities were said to have taken place—requested the Consul to inquire at once into the matter, and to report to the Ministry without delay. The answer of the Consul was, happily, an easy task, since he had the necessary materials at hand to prove that the bark Cayalti, although stated by the Advertiser of the 17th Oct last, to be a Prusinsemuch as they show that a vigilant eye is that the bark Cayalli, although stated by the Advertiser of the 17th Oct. last, to be a Prusslan vessel, was no such thing, but was known to be a Peruvian ship. - (Irren ist menschlich.)

THE HAND OF DEATH has once more been laid on some amongst us. Mr. Frank Molteno, a native of Peckham, Surry, England, where he was born in 1816, paid his last tribute on Saturday, the 28th of February, after a very short illness. He came to thes Islands lu 1837. He has been for many years an enterprising owner in several coasters, and was the late owner of the schooner Nettie Merrill. He was very popular amongst our old settlers, and is now deeply regretted by his numerous friends, who will long remember his kindness, urbanity, and amiable on the same day, of congestion of the lungs. His example was encouraging for good, for he was unquestionably a very skillful mechanie and useful member of our community, and as such enjoyed the confidence of all who intrusted him with work.

Mr. Alex, Houston, of San Francisco, died on Sunday night. He had been long sick of consumption, and even our beautiful ellmate could not stay the powerful hand of death. His brother-in-law, Mr. Morrison, who accompanied him to the Islands, is abent on a visit to Maui.

"Leaves have their time to fall, And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath, But all, Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O Beath." The truth of the above-quoted sentiment of an eminent poetess (we quote from mem-ory,) was never more forcibly brought to nind than on Monday morning last, when our community were apprised of the three deaths above-mentioned, within the previous thirty-six bours. In a small community like ours, we sadly miss the well-known form, the pleasant joke and cheery laugh, of an old and respected resident like the one whom the "lisatiate monster" has just taken from among us. A stranger, also, from a foreign land, in search of health, found here friends and a grave. A prominent native, a very worthy man and an able mechanic, also succumbed to the grim tyrant, on the evening of Saturday. Two other sudden deaths are reported between Saturday and Monday. ome are of opinion that several of these deaths have resulted from typhoid fever, but we do not know that the physicians have accepted that view of the case.

The Senate agreed to count the vote of Georgia by a vote of 31 ayes to 26 noes. The House refused to agree to the count, by a vote of 150 noes to 41 syes.

The Convention then took a recess.

Upon re-assembling, Senator Wade, President of the Senate, directed the tellers to proceed with the count. Butler objected, and great excitement and confusion ensued. Speaker Collax threatened to order the arrest of members if order was not preserved.

Order being finally restored, the count was completed, and the Senate retired.

Washington, February 11.—The scene in Congress yesterday during the sitting of the John Convention, on the counting of the votes of the State of Georgia, and the scene afterwards in the House, while discussing Butler's resolution, were unparalleled for their exhibitions of violence and disorder.

Senator Wade was determined to receive the vote of the citizons of Georgia, and peremptorily refused to allow Butler to speak—saying, softo coes, that he (Butler) might appeal and be damned.

Butler, upon this, rolled up his coat sleeves in pugilistic style.

Framsworth, Ingersoll, Van Horn and other Representatives, gathered around Butler yelling in the most vociferous and unseemly manner.

Butler demanded that Senators should retire—calling them "interlopera," and pointing to Summer, Fessenden and others.

Speaker Colfax then ordered the Sergeantat-Arms to arrest the disorderly Representatives. The Seargeantat-Arms approached Butler for the purpose of making the arrest. Butler subsided, but Van Horn threatened to cut the Seargent-at-Arms in two, if he dared to lay hands on the gentleman from Massachusetts. Personal violence was seriously apprehen-

Dinner is served at half past 7 in the Galerie de Diane, a magnificant apartment, the windows of which look out upon the conservatories, the park, and the forest. The Emperor and Empress retire early. The Emperor's Cabinet, which adjoins the alceping apartments, is the room in which Napoleon I, signed his abdication. The table still bears the marks of the penknife with which he scratched it savagely at this important moment of his life, and the legs of the soft on which he sat show traces of his spurs. On the wall is hung the well-known portrait of Napoleon I., by Gros, representing the Emperor reading despatches, with the young King of Rome on his knee. In the sleeping apartment is the same State bed as had before been slept in by Napoleon I., Louis XVIII., Charles X., and Louis Philippe. The Empress' room hung with magnificent silk drapers presented to the wife of Louis XVI., by the town of Lyons, is known as the room of the Five Maries—having been successively occupied by Marie de Medicis, Marie Therese, Marie Antoinette, Marie Louise, and Marie Amelle. Its present occupier is another Marie, the Empress's name being Marie Eugenie.

However it may be in other parts of the South, civilization in portions of Virginia seems to be "progressing backward." So we should judge, at least, from the fact that questions of life and liberty are decided on jury trials by lot. It seems that on a trial of some men for unlawful shooting, the jury was divided—eight for acquittal, two for conviction and two for compromise. Whereupon it was agreed that twelve ballots marked quilty, and twelve blank ballots should be placed in a hat, and that twelve be drawn out,—the majority deciding the verdict. Of the twelve drawn, sera were found marked guilty, whereupon the accused were convicted. Application has been made for a pardon on the ground that this was not a jury trial. We do not learn that any of the jurymen were black. The pardon has been granted.—N. F. Times.

The following melancholy advertisement appears in a Canadian paper:—"Will the gentleman who stole my melous on last Sabath night be generous enough to return me a few of the seeds, as the melous are a rure variety."
